ABOUT THE NOVEMBER 6-NATION SURVEY

Results for the six-nation survey are based on telephone interviews conducted under the direction of Princeton Survey Research Associates among a nationwide, representative sample of adults, 18 years of age and older, in France, Germany, Britain and the U.S. In Russia, telephone interviews were conducted with adults in 10 cities: Moscow, St. Petersburg, Voronezh, Ekaterinburg, Kazan, Krasnodar, Nizhnii Novgorod, Novosibirsk, Samara and Khabarovsk. In Turkey face-to-face interviews were conducted with a nationwide, representative sample of adults 18 years of age and older. The fieldwork was conduced by IFOP in France, Emnid in Germany, NOP in Britain, Romir in Russia, TNS PIAR in Turkey, and Princeton Data Source in the U.S. For results based on the total sample in each of the six countries, one can say with 95% confidence that the error attributable to sampling and other random effects is plus or minus 3 percentage points.

In addition to sampling error, one should bear in mind that question wording and practical difficulties in conducting surveys can introduce error bias into the findings of opinion polls.

Σ In 1991, the item was worded: "It is sometimes necessary to use military force to maintain order in the world."

ΣΣ In 1991, U.S. respondents were asked: "It's best…"

GLOBAL ATTITUDES: 21 POPULATION SURVEY (2003)

ABOUT THE APRIL-MAY 2003 GLOBAL ATTITUDES UPDATE SURVEY

Results for the survey of 20 countries and the Palestinian Authority are based on telephone and face-to-face interviews conducted under the direction of Princeton Survey Research Associates. Telephone interviews were conducted among a nationwide, representative sample of 1,201 adults, 18 years of age or older, in the United States, 501 in Australia, 499 in Great Britain, 500 in Canada, 504 in France, 500 in Germany, 500 in Italy, 525 in South Korea, and 503 in Spain. The fieldwork was conducted by TNS in Australia between April 28 and May 4, 2003, by NOP in Great Britain between April 29 and May 3, 2003, by Environics in Canada between April 29 and May 4, 2003, by IFOP in France between April 29-30, 2003, by TNS-Emnid in Germany between May 3-8, 2003, by Pragma in Italy between May 5-9, 2003, by Gallup in South Korea between May 3-6, 2003, by Demoscopia in Spain between May 8-10, 2003, and by Princeton Data Source in the U.S. between April 30- May 4,2003. In Kuwait, a 500 nationwide telephone survey was conducted among Kuwaitis and with the expatriate Arab population living in Kuwait with family members. The interviewing was conducted by Focus between May 3-8, 2003.

Face-to-face interviews were conducted among a nation-wide representative sample of 1,000 adults in Jordan, 1,000 in Lebanon, 501 in Russia, and 1,000 in Turkey. The fieldwork was conducted by MRO in Jordan between May 5-15, 2003, by MRO in Lebanon between May 6-13, by ROMIR in Russia between April 28 and May 4, and by TNS Piar in Turkey between May 2-8, 2003. PORI conducted 903 telephone and face-to-face interviews in Israel, including an Arab oversample, and 800 face-to-face interviews in the Palestinian Authority between May 1-9. In Brazil, 1,000 face-to-face interviews were conducted among a predominately urban sample by Research International between April 30 and May 8, 2003. In Indonesia, 1,011 face-to-face interviews were conducted among a predominately urban sample by TNS between May 1-10, 2003. In Morocco, 1,001 face-to-face interviews of adults 18-59 years of age were conducted in four major cities by Synovate Market Research between May 5-10, 2003. In Nigeria, 1,000 interviews were conducted in urban areas by Market Trends Research International between May 1-11, 2003. In Pakistan, 999 face-to-face urban interviews were conducted in ten major cities by ACNielsen between May 6-10, 2003.

For results based on the total sample in countries where the sample size is more than 900 (the U.S, Brazil, Indonesia, Israel, Jordan, Lebanon, Morocco, Nigeria, Pakistan and Turkey), one can say with 95% confidence that the error attributable to sampling and other random effects is plus or minus 3 percentage points. In the Palestinian Authority, where the sample size is 800, the margin of error is 3.5 percentage points. In countries where the sample size is approximately 500 (Australia, Great Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Kuwait, Russia, South Korea and Spain), the margin of error is 4 percentage points.

In addition to sampling error, one should bear in mind that question wording and practical difficulties in conducting surveys can introduce error or bias into the findings of opinion polls.
